

had been taken up, Mr. Dabney was recognized, and in a calm, earnest statement addressed the Board. He reviewed briefly the procedure leading up to the meeting and the action of the Board on January 15th, and justified his action in calling up the matter at the former session. He had been informally asked by Mr. Elliott if the matter would come up at that meeting, and had frankly stated that he did not think it would, as it would require a suspension of the rules. At that time he had no idea of its being called up, but later, when a general suspension of the rules had been adopted, he determined to call the matter up, and put it on its passage. In doing this he had acted fully within his rights and had taken no advantage of any one. He reiterated that the ordinance would have been passed had it been taken up at any time during the session.

In view of these facts, Mr. Dabney declared that he wanted to see the rules of the city, or a portion of it, had been amended, and that the purpose of the amendment was to suspend the rules of the city. He stated that the only thing that was in the matter was the extraordinary occasion, which, in his opinion, made the amendment proposed a wise and just one. He cited the fact that the only reason for suspending the rules of the city was to suspend the ordinance during the Jamestown Exposition, when thousands of visitors would be here. The benefit to this city from the exposition will probably be as great as that to Norfolk, since many who would go there would also come here.

Many will come via the Norfolk and Western, and owing to the congestion of travel and extra trains and the delay incident thereto, a large number of people will arrive here between 1 and 2 A. M. Probably every one of these visitors will spend $5 to $10 per capita, and all the citizens will be the beneficiaries and not the liquor dealers alone. Persons arriving on belated trains will first reach Main Street, which are a number of restaurants with bars attached. These people will be hungry and will be entitled to something to eat, but under the law closing these places they will have to go to one of the hotels. These, said the speaker, were the considerations that influenced him in favor of an amendment. The average attendants on expositions are not millionaires and cannot pay the rates charged by the hotels, or would prefer something less expensive. The motives actuating the advocates of the ordinance are not, as they have been declared, but they are not unworthy ones. The considerations involved are not to be ignored. The money that would be brought here and spent here would benefit the widow and orphan, and every class of citizens would profit.

No Purpose to Defeat Law.

"I deny that there was any purpose on my part or on the part of those voting with me to subvert the Unlawful Ordinance," said Mr. Dabney. He declared that the question involved was one of policy, not of principle. He eulogized the city on its record as a law-abiding and moral community, and expressed the opinion that the amendment would not, if adopted, impair the city's reputation. Mr. Satterfield followed Mr. Dabney. "Mr. President, I presume it is in the nature of an apology," said he. "I am about to sacrifice my convictions on this question but I have been importuned by a large majority of my constituents since the former action of the Board, and asked to call for the 2 o'clock session. There seems to be a general sentiment in favor of that hour, and as I am not voting on my own convictions alone, but as a representative of a constituency, I shall vote against the amendment."

Mr. Reynolds stated that he had voted for what he thought then and still thought was proper. He explained, however, that in deference to the wishes of others he would vote against the ordinance. He stated that he was almost influenced by the newspaper criticisms to adhere to his former vote, however.

The pending question was thereupon called and ordered every member present, seventeen in all, voting to reconsider.

Thereupon the ordinance reconsidered was put on its passage, and on a viva voce vote was declared lost. The announcement was accepted without question.

Other Matters Taken Up.

Alderman Wood asked that the rules be suspended to consider three specific matters which he named. Messrs. Adams, Dabney, May, and others, asked that certain resolutions and ordinances named by them be included in the motion for consideration under suspension of the rules. The motion to suspend prevailed, and the following matters were taken up and acted upon as stated in each case:

Resolution permitting the Auditor to pay salaries until the budget is adopted. Adopted, 17 to 6.

Resolution of Alderman Masurier, reading as follows: That the Committee on Finance be and they are hereby, requested to report an ordinance for a resolution providing for the construction of an armory for the Richmond Light Infantry Blues' Battalion. Referred to Finance Committee.

Ordinance from the Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform providing for an appropriation of $10,000 for a Richmond building at the Jamestown Exposition. Referred to Finance Committee.

Ordinance providing for the construction of an electric light and power plant and the issue of bonds to the amount not exceeding $300,000 therefor. Referred to Finance Committee.

Message of Mayor and telegram from Mayor of Augusta, Ga., asking relief funds. Referred to Finance Committee.

Resolution by Alderman W. H. Adams, thanking the firemen for their gallant and effective work in the two dangerous fires of Wednesday morning, and praising their work. Adopted unanimously.

Disagree on Auditorium.

The only thing considered under suspension of the rules that was discussed at all was the joint resolution relative to the award of the contract for the conversion of the Third Market building into an auditorium.

Mr. Whitte of the Grounds and Buildings Committee, expressed his surprise at the action of the Common Council in awarding the contract to Contractor W. A. Chestnut, and the committee had recommended it was $225 less than Mr. Chestnut's bid for a building without seats. The committee did not want the benches that he bid to have to be torn out. They would be like pine slat benches, and it was

WOMAN SHOT, MAN KILLED

Mysterious Pistol Affair Took Place in Hoboken Yesterday.

NEW YORK, January 24.—Mrs. Mary Barbazian, aged sixteen, was found probably fatally wounded in her mother's home, in Hoboken, today, beside the lifeless body of her husband, Peter Barbazian. Mrs. Barbazian and her mother declared that Barbazian shot his wife and then killed himself. According to Mrs. Barbazian's mother, the younger woman had left her husband and gone to live with her mother. Today her husband called, and was having an interview with his wife when he fired the shots. The wife told the same story.

The coroner, however, found that Barbazian's revolver was in his pocket fully loaded, and that the shots were fired from a weapon belonging to Mrs. Barbazian's brother. The coroner's suspicions were also aroused by the fact that Barbazian, who is right-handed, was shot in the right hand.

Messrs. A. E. and J. H. Gray Make Assignment.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

DANVILLE, VA., January 24.—As the result of a decision to dissolve partnership and close up the business A. E. Gray and J. H. Gray, doing business as A. E. Gray, filed a deed of assignment yesterday. The liabilities are listed at $2,500, of which amount over half is due to estate of the late A. E. Gray, the founder of the shoe and hat business, and father of the partners. The assets, consisting of the stock of goods, are sufficient to pay the debts. The firm was established twenty-nine years ago.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR REBUILDING

Little Time to Be Lost in Restoring Structures Destroyed in Big Blaze.

MUCH PRAISE FOR FIREMEN

All Firms Burned Out Have Established Temporary Headquarters for Business.

The fire of Wednesday morning by which two large buildings on Cary Street, each occupied by several firms, were destroyed, are now a matter of history, though the fire was still pouring water into the ruins of the Williams building yesterday evening. All the firms burned out have secured temporary quarters, and in several cases business has already been resumed on some scale.

It is already settled that the Snyder building recently occupied by the Johnson Company and the Southern Paper Company, will be rebuilt without delay. The substantial old structure is far from being a total loss. Indeed, the loss on the building itself will hardly exceed fifty per cent. It was unroofed and the floors and interior woodwork were destroyed by the heat of the contents. The walls, however, are intact, the first floor is not greatly damaged and the window facings are generally good. It will require but a short time to make the property habitable. No definite statement has been made as to the plans of the owners of the Williams building relative to rebuilding, but it is anticipated that the burned structure will be replaced by a more substantial and modern one.

Dangerous Fire

The fire at Eleventh and Cary was perhaps the more dangerous of the two. In the opinion of experts, firemen and insurance experts regard the block bounded by Cary, Tenth, Main and Eleventh Streets as the most dangerous in the city for a serious fire. On all four streets it is built up with four-story brick and iron structures. On Cary Street, the new four-story building of the International Harvester Company; the building of the Southern Bank House, the Cary Street Annex of the E. B. Taylor Company and the building belonging to the Virginia Fire and Marine Insurance Company and the big clothing house of O. H. Berry. For two-thirds of the Main Street front the buildings are iron-front and glass construction, which are regarded by firemen as the most dangerous of all buildings, not alone by reason of the liability of the fronts to collapse from heat, but likewise from the danger of communicating flames to all neighboring property. The heat is unconfined in such buildings and sweeps down the streets. Furthermore, it is almost impossible to approach closely enough to such burning buildings to fight the flames effectively.

When the fire in this block was discovered, the flames were exhausted by a long, hard fight with flames under most disagreeable conditions. Part of the apparatus was necessary at the first fire, and so the full force of the equipment and men could not be directed against this dangerous outbreak.

Firemen Praised.

Seldom is opinion more unanimous in commending the work of firemen in this city. Besides the electrically mentioned, the G. & A. Bargmann firm, adjoining the corner of Ninth and Cary Streets, testified their appreciation of the fire-fighting by transmitting to Secretary L. S. Jones, of the Board of Fire Commissioners, a check for $50 and the following letter of commendation of the firemen's services:

Richmond, Va., January 24, 1907. Mr. L. S. Jones, Secretary Fire Department, City.

Dear Sir:—We take great pleasure in enclosing herewith our check for $50 for the Firemen's Relief Association, as a slight token of our appreciation of the valuable services rendered by the Richmond Fire Department in protecting the building occupied by our firm during the disastrous conflagration which visited our city yesterday. The work done by the men under adverse conditions is beyond praise, and we take this means of thanking the entire fire department of the city.

Catarrh of the Stomach

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effective Cure for It.

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloated sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, sickle appetite, nervousness, and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and, if the interior of the stomach could be seen, it would show a slimy, inflamed condition. The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which dissolves the food, so that it is thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do, and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. J. H. DeJarnette, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Dilaase, Aspetic Pepsin, a little Xux, Golden Seal and other ingredients. These tablets can be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not being a patent medicine, can be used without danger and assurance of healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharges, first, southward into the throat, reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years the use of stomachic without cure, but to-day I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation, as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy, for any form of indigestion, Catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

for their efficient work. We beg to remain, Very truly yours, G. & A. BARGMANN CO., Per Anton H. Thiermann, President.

There is little to add to the very complete estimate of loss and insurance which was published in the Times-Dispatch yesterday, and many persons commended this conservative statement of losses. Several gentlemen phoned that it was a had advertisement of the city to publish exaggerated estimates of losses and that it would injure the coal, city and militia against securing the insurance rates to which Richmond is entitled.

Losses of Blues.

An inventory turned in by the officers of the Richmond Light Infantry Blues to the Adjutant-General yesterday, specifies in great detail the articles destroyed, and figures the loss at $12,000. This is the government loss and includes everything. The burned government uniforms were worth little or nothing, and would soon have been discarded as junk on the arrival of new ones. The battalion itself sustained a serious loss, and several officers suffered serious personal losses of effects, etc. The value of the furnishings of the company rooms cannot be estimated, since it was far greater sentimentally than intrinsically.

The Southern Paper Company's loss is estimated at not exceeding $15,000, and is probably more than covered by insurance, policies to the amount of about that sum being in force. The company has leased temporary quarters on Governor Street, and is ready for business again. The Southern Steam Laundry carried $4,000 insurance, which will probably nearly cover their entire loss, if not fully. Temporary quarters have been engaged on North Ninth Street, between Broad and Marshall.

The Sturge Company's loss is about covered by insurance. The company has leased temporary offices in the Mutual Building and will resume business as soon as quarters can be had and equipment reproduced.

The R. F. Johnson Company has temporary quarters in the Mutual Building, but will occupy their old quarters as soon as they can be rebuilt.

The Adams and Southern Express Companies have engaged temporary quarters at No. 607 East Main Street, and will transact business there.

All the other burned out firms have engaged offices and are seeking quarters.

PLAYING WITH RIFLE, BOY KILLS ANOTHER

Both Were Trying to Dig Out the Bullet Which Entered Lad's Brain.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CHARLOTTE, N. C., January 24.—George Niles, aged twelve years, was this morning fatally shot through the brain by his fifteen-year-old brother, Oscar Niles, at the home of the boys' mother, Mrs. Sarah H. Niles, at No. 704 East Seventh Street. The boys were in the backroom of the home alone, and no one witnessed the shooting. The boys were handling a .22-calibre rifle, and were digging out a bullet. The older boy had the rifle on his lap, and his brother, who was sitting by him, had his head at the end of the rifle assisting him in his work. From some unknown cause the bullet exploded and entered the head of young Niles just above the right eye and penetrated the brain.
